

BENTON COUNTY ORDER OF PROTECTION INFORMATION

PLEASE READ ALL INFORMATION IN THIS PACKET VERY CAREFULLY

If you click on the link for Order of Protection Petition & Affidavit you will find the forms you need to request an order of protection. There is no guarantee an order of protection will be granted; there are certain qualifications and the decision is based on the information you provide in your petition & affidavit.

There are no costs to you to file for an Order of Protection *(Costs could be incurred at the judge's discretion if you fail to appear for your court date or decide to dismiss your order at the time of your hearing).

Attached in the sections below you will read the qualifications and you are provided step by step instructions and information for requesting an order of protection.

QUALIFYING FOR AN ORDER OF PROTECTION

WHAT DOES DOMESTIC ABUSE MEAN?

- Domestic abuse is physical harm, injury or assault or the infliction of fear of imminent physical harm, bodily injury or assault between family or household members. You do not have to actually be physically hurt to be the victim of domestic abuse. If someone makes you afraid that you are going to be hurt or assaulted, that can be considered abuse, too. A.C.A. § 9-15-103(3) (A)
- Domestic abuse also includes sexual conduct between family or household members (whether minors or adults) that would be a crime in Arkansas. A.C.A. § 9-15-103(3) (B)

WHO CAN GET AN ORDER OF PROTECTION?

It is against the law to abuse someone who is a family member or who lives or used to live in the same house. A household or family member could be:

- Husband or wife
- Boyfriend or girlfriend
- Parent
- Child
- People related by blood
- Anyone who lives in or used to live in the house
- People who have a child together
- Someone who is dating or has dated someone in the house

*A family or household member may petition on behalf of another family or household member who is a minor or who has been adjudicated by a judge as incompetent.

STEP 1: GETTING STARTED

We will now go through how the process works and what you will need to do to get help from the courts.

- An Order of Protection can be issued by a Circuit Court Judge when a Petitioner has been threatened or harmed by a Respondent and is in immediate and present danger of domestic abuse. If you have recently been a victim of domestic violence and need immediate protection you may qualify for an Order of Protection.
- You are the Petitioner (person asking for protection) because you are petitioning--or asking--the court to protect you from harm. The person you need protection from is called the Respondent (alleged abuser).
- Please carefully read the forms in this packet and make sure the information you provide is correct. Change any incorrect information before filing these forms.

STEP 2: WHERE DO I GO?

At this time due to the COVID19 Corona Virus our county offices are closed to the public and our employees are working remotely.

Please call the Benton County Prosecutor's Office-Victim Services at 479-271-1030 and press option 2 for the Victim Advocates menu; here you will press option 2 or 9 where you will be directed to leave a voicemail with your name, phone number and the reason for your call. An advocate will call you back between the hours of 8am-4:30pm Monday-Friday to discuss your need to file for an Order of Protection and help walk you through the process online if necessary.

Since the Circuit Clerk's Office is closed to the public, you will need to be able to print out the documents, fill them out and have them notarized. You can then fax or email the documents back to us via the fax number or email address attached online.

If this is not something you are able to do please discuss it with the advocate when you call so we can help make the proper arrangements for you. We will work with you as much as possible and will take this case by case as we go forward. Thank you for your understanding. *

You can file for an order of protection in the county you live in, where the respondent lives, or where the abuse happened. If you are in a shelter, you can go to the courthouse in the county where the shelter is.

- Take the petition to the county courthouse and go to the circuit clerk's office to file the petition, in this instance it will be the Benton County Courthouse.
- There is no charge to file the petition.

*You do not have to put your address on the petition if you do not want the Respondent to know your address. Where it asks for your address or contact information you can write "Withheld" in the space provided. The court will still need you to provide your mailing address and contact information to them.

STEP 3: WHAT ARE THE JUDGES OPTIONS?

After you give your completed petition & affidavit to the clerk to file, the clerk will give the petition & affidavit to the judge who will review it. It may take 2-3 hours or more before the judge sends their decision back to the clerk.

- If the judge decides you have presented enough information in your petition & affidavit then you may be granted a Temporary Order of Protection (Also called an Ex-Parte Order).
 - This temporary order means NO CONTACT is allowed. The judge signs an order stating the Respondent is to have no contact, directly or indirectly with the Petitioner and any other protected parties listed and states the Respondent is excluded from going to certain places.
 - Included in the order will be a court date set within (30) days for the purpose of a hearing to request a final order of protection; this is also the expiration date of the temporary order. Both Petitioner and Respondent will be required to attend the hearing.
 - A final order or protection can be granted anywhere from a minimum of 90 days to the maximum of 10 years.
 - If your abuser violates the temporary order of protection by coming to your house, work or any other address that is listed in the order, call the police and tell them you have an order of protection in effect. The police can arrest your abuser for violating the order of protection. *The police cannot arrest your abuser for violating an order of protection until it has been served on them.

- The judge may decide that you did not provide enough information in your petition & affidavit to grant an order of protection. If this happens, you have the right to have a hearing to explain to the judge in person why you need this order.
 - The judge will grant what is called an Order to Appear where a court date is set within (30) days. At that time the judge will hear from the Petitioner and the Respondent and then decide if a protection order is to be granted.
 - With an Order to Appear there is no protection order for law enforcement to enforce, it only means there is a court date that both Petitioner and Respondent are required to attend
- If the petition and affidavit you submitted does not provide information to support an order of protection or if the information provided does not qualify for an order of protection, the judge can issue a Dismissal of the case. There would be no court dates and the case would be closed.

Step 4: RECEIVING YOUR PAPERWORK AND ORDER

After the Judge makes a determination regarding your petition & affidavit, the Circuit Clerks Office will complete the appropriate paperwork. You can call the Circuit Clerks Office directly at (479)271-1015 to check on your packet and see when it is ready for you to pick up. It is your responsibility to pick this up as soon as possible.

- The Court date will be printed on the order.
- Once the order is issued no changes can be made until your hearing date.
- If you do not attend the hearing date, the petition can be dismissed and you could be charged court costs of $165.00 filing fee and $50.00 Sheriff's costs. You may also run the risk of the Judge issuing a Body Attachment Warrant which can require time spent in the county jail.
- If the judge does grant you a Temporary Order of Protection, make several copies of the signed order. If the order includes your children, take copies of the order to their school or daycare. Keep a copy of the order of protection with you at all times. If you call the police because your abuser is violating the order, the police will ask to see the order.

STEP 5: SERVICE OF THE ORDER

The Circuit Clerk's Office will fax a service packet to the Benton County Sheriff's Office to have the Respondent served with the order.

- The respondent must be served for the order to be in effect.
- The respondent will be served with a copy of the order that was signed by the judge as well as a copy of the petition & affidavit you filled out to request the order of protection. This is whether you received the order of protection or the order to appear. Take appropriate safety measures if you are concerned for your safety.
- You may call the Benton County Sheriff's Office Civil Process Dept. at 479-271-1010 to ask if your protective order has been served or to provide additional information for service.

STEP 6: PREPARING FOR YOUR HEARING

Whether you get an Order of Protection or an Order to Appear, both Petitioner and Respondent will be required to show up for the hearing date. Both parties will be given a chance to tell their sides and the judge will use the petition & affidavit along with the testimony and evidence presented to decide whether a long-term order of protection is appropriate or not.

When the judge has heard both sides, he or she will make a decision on whether to extend the order of protection or not. You will have to tell the judge why you are afraid of the abuser and why you need to keep him or her away from you. You need to be prepared to tell the court everything that has happened and why you need protection. You need to bring any witnesses or documents that support what you will say.

- You do not have to have an attorney to represent you for the hearing but if the Respondent has an attorney you may want to have one as well. Otherwise you will be representing yourself and you are bound by the same rules of evidence as an attorney.
- On the day of your hearing, please try to arrive approximately 30 minutes prior to the scheduled hearing time. During this time, you will have the opportunity to consult with your attorney and/or court advocates, regarding any questions or concerns you may have.
- Check in with court staff immediately and inform them of any concerns you have related to your safety in the courthouse. You may request to wait in a separate area from the Respondent if you are uncomfortable or scared.
- Dress appropriately/nicely to show respect for the judge and the court. This means- no shorts, tank tops, revealing clothing or ball caps.
- Please make child care arrangements as children are not allowed in the courtroom.
- Bring a friend or support person if you are uncomfortable being alone. An Advocate may be available to accompany you to court for moral support but cannot offer you legal advice.
- Bring witnesses who have seen the violence or heard threats by the abuser.
- Bring any documents that support what you will say which can include police reports, photographs of injuries, hospital or medical records related to the abuse.
- Make notes and bring them if you fear you may leave out important information during your testimony.
- Keep your testimony brief and be specific while describing the acts of violence and threats.
- If you have an attorney, he or she will help prepare you for your testimony.
- If the Respondent has an attorney, they may question you about your testimony (cross examination).
- If the Respondent does not have an attorney, he or she has the right to ask you questions.
- If the Respondent does not appear at the hearing, the court will usually enter the order you ask for.
- Always be respectful to the Judge, address he or she as “Your Honor” or “Judge”.
- It is against the law for a Respondent to have access to firearms when there is a Final Order of Protection in effect. Please inform the Judge of any concerns that you have regarding firearms.
- If you have children under age 18 and are asking for child support, bring any available information you have about the Respondent’s income (for example, a pay stub or last year’s tax returns).
- Most likely, the court will give visitation rights to the respondent. If you have concerns about your children’s safety, you should come to court with an alternate plan for visitation.
- The court typically will not divide property at the hearing, other than the return of personal items.

STEP 7: WHAT HAPPENS AFTER THE HEARING

- If you are granted a Final Order of Protection you will be given a signed copy after court, you should keep a copy with you at all times. You will also need to provide copies to your children’s school or daycare if they are included in the order of protection. You should keep other copies in places where you might need it
- When granted a Final Order of Protection, be sure to mark the expiration date on your calendar. If you want to extend the order past that date, it will be necessary to submit a request with the court at least 30 days before the expiration date of the final order. All requested changes will be sent to the Judge for review. The court will notify you once a hearing date is set concerning the request.
- The order of protection is not a mutual order. You are not prohibited from going to any location or from participating in any certain conduct.
- The order does not become “null” or “void” if you and the abuser reconcile after the final order of protection is issued, or by any conduct on your behalf. Only a court can dismiss the final order of protection once you have filed a petition.
- An order of protection issued in one county is enforceable in all other counties in Arkansas and throughout the U.S.

- The order of protection is different and separate from any orders issued in a divorce, legal separation or criminal case. You can get an order of protection even if you are filing for divorce or decide to press criminal charges against your abuser.

Step 8: WHAT IF RESPONDENT VIOLATES THE ORDER OF PROTECTION

- It is a crime to violate an order of protection. If your abuser does anything that the order of protection says he is not supposed to do, you can call the police. Tell them about the order of protection and have your copy ready to show them.
- The police can arrest the Respondent for violation of the order of protection. If convicted, the abuser can be sent to jail for up to one (1) year and/or fined up to one thousand dollars ($1000.00).
- You may have to go to court to testify about what the abuser did to violate the order of protection.
- If the Respondent violates an Order of Protection at any time call 911 or your local law enforcement agency ASAP.
